Doug's Reflection

11-08-26 THE THIRTY-SECOND SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

John the Baptist was NOT your average, everyday individual. He was an unexpected child. After all, his parents were too old to have children! In their minds, the birth of a child was something that just wasn't in the cards for them. Having children at their age just wasn't ordinary. And that's an important lesson for us. God is in the business of taking the ordinary and hooking an extra on to the front of it. What is extraordinary for us is ordinary for God. And John was an extraordinary man. So what say we become a church of John The Baptist's. Let's not be afraid of being different. Let's not be afraid of looking foolish for Christ, because after all, the wisdom of God is folly to humanity. Let's be fools for Christ! Let's spiritually live on locusts and wild honey, As John the Baptist was a herald for the coming of the Christ, let's all strive to be heralds as well!
